RIBERA DEL DUERO

ALCOHOL: 14,5% WINEMAKER: Javier Gil

Harvesting is done by hand, selecting the best clusters at their optimal point of polyphenolic maturation. The grapes come from vineyards over 30 years old, situated on high, sterile land where they ripen with difficulty, concentrating their aroma, soft tannins and colour.

WINEMAKING:

Harvest method: By hand, selecting individual clusters.

Varietal: 100% Tempranillo. Vineyards over 30 years old.

Fermentation in American oak barrels

Barrel Aging: 16 months (French oak barrels).

COLOUR: : Vivid cherry red core with a thin layer exhibiting purple shades. Smooth and brilliant.

AROMA After breathing in the wine glass, a highly intense aroma, raspberry, vanilla, cinnamon, coco, cacao, chocolate, freshly roasted coffee, ripe fruit compote. Truffle and pepper. With time, aromas of raisins and an undertone of violets can be detected.

PALATE: Powerful, fleshy, round, smooth soft tannins. These are wines with high aging potential. The tannin will continue to polymerize, gaining in fineness on the palate and in aromatic complexity.

The region is characterised by a largely flat, rocky terrain and is centred on the town of Aranda de Duero, although the most famous vineyards surround Peñafiel and Roa de Duero to the west.

Geologically, tertiary sediments, consisting of gently lenticular layers of silty or clayey sand, alternate with layers of limestone, marl and chalky concretions. The Duero valley, formed during the Miocene period, has a flat, rocky, gently undulating terrain, ranging from 911 m down to 750 m above sea level. The Ribera del Duero has moderate to low rainfall (450 mm per year) and is exposed to quite extreme climatic conditions; long, dry summers with temperatures of up to 40 °C are followed by hard winters during which temperatures may fall as low as -18 °C. There are also marked variations in temperature within each season. The climate is continental and Mediterranean, with more than 2.000 hours of annual sunlight.
